HUNTING FOR RED STAGS AND ROE BUCKS

OUTSTANDING TROPHIES

HUNTING DISTRICT

The extraordinary hunting district lies in the south of Hungary near the Croatian frontier. The landscape varies from steppe plains and floodplain forests to rolling hills and low forested mountains. Of particular note is the largest and widest floodplain in the country, famous for its phenomenal red deer population. A special feature of this part of Hungary is the presence of sub-Mediterranean elements in the flora, which are not found in other parts of the country. The total area of the hunting district is almost 40,000 hectares, of which about 20 % is mixed forest with reed thickets, swampy meadows, alder forests and farmland. The area is home to an excellent population of red deer, roe deer, wild boar and small game. It is also a paradise for birds: you can see crows, white-tailed eagles, snipe, black kites, black storks and more than a hundred species of red herons, egrets, night herons, flamingos and grey-footed geese. Thanks to the exceptional genetic value of the red deer population, the hunting district has a special status in the South Transdanubian region. The management of the area pays special attention to the harmony between agricultural production and game management. To this end, an annual hunting plan is drawn up. A number of driven hunts are also organised each year. The annual shooting plan usually includes around 1400 red deer, 350 roe deer and 950 wild boars. Guests usually appreciate the natural beauty of the area and the abundance of game. The quality of red stag trophies is outstanding, as the statistics of recent years show, with 9 trophies over 14 kg in the last 10 years (record trophy 16.25 kg). As for roe deer, about 100 roe bucks are hunted each year, with trophies over 400-450 grams not uncommon. Among the most important trophies, these areas can boast a record of 678 grams.

TOURIST ATTRACTIONS. PECS ANND MUCH MORE

You can complement your hunting days with a rich tourist programme. As well as Budapest, which is about 200 km away, it is definitely worth planning a visit to Pécs, home to UNESCO monuments; the Danube–Drava National Park, which has the largest floodplain forest in Europe; the spa town of Harkány; the 14^(th)-century Siklós Castle; and the town of Szigetvár, which has a castle and many other monuments. Last but not least the beautiful town Osijek in Croatia just near the border with Hungary.We can offer hunters and non-hunting guests food and wine tours, hiking and fishing, to name just a few activities. We can also prepare a detailed tourist programme on request, including a tour guide, transfers and meals in selected restaurants.
